"Do what thou wilt" shall be the whole of the Law, meaning that adherents of Thelema should seek out and follow their true path, i.e. find or determine their True Will. Love is the law, love under will, i.e. the nature of the Law of Thelema is love, but love itself is subsidiary to finding and manifesting one's authentic purpose or "mission".

Thelema - Wikipedia

Do What Thou Wilt: An exploration into the life and works of a modern mystic, occultist, poet, mountaineer, and bisexual adventurer known to his contemporaries as "The Great Beast", Aleister Crowley was a groundbreaking poet and an iconoclastic visionary whose literary and cultural legacy extends far beyond the limits of his notoriety as a practitioner of the occult arts.

Do-What-Thou-Wilt - Wikipedia

"Do what thou wilt" is known as the Law of Thelema. It is derived from the rule of the fictional Abbey of Thélème in the classic satire Gargantua by the French priest and occult student François Rabelais. Crowley recommends study of Rabelais when discussing the Law. In Rabelais this rule was "fay çe que voudras", French for "do what you will."

The Wiccan Rede ^[i]rd is a statement that provides the key moral system in the neopagan religion of Wicca and certain other related witchcraft-based faiths. A common form of the Rede is An ye harm none, do what ye will which was taken from a longer poem also titled the Wiccan Rede. The word "rede" derives from Middle English, meaning "advice" or "counsel", and being closely related to the German Rat or Scandinavian ráð.

"An" is an archaic Middle English conjunction, meaning "if." "Ye ..."

Wiccan Rede - Wikipedia

OP: "An ye harm none, do what thou wilt" just means "As long as you harm no one, do whatever you want." The wording is archaic ("an" is an old word for "if" in this context), but the message seems clear enough.

What does "Do what thou wilt" mean - Fluther

"Do what thou wilt shall be the whole of the law" ought to be understood for it's real intended meaning: "You can do whatever you want and ignore God's Moral Order". It's ridiculous to think there is anything sublime in this self centered dictate which misses the whole point of laws. Duh.
